

SAAS

SPONSOR AN AFRICAN SCHOLAR

STUDENT PROFILE

NAME: Kelvin

AGE: 24

SCHOOL: Kenya Coast National Polytechnic

COURSE: Telecommunication

Kelvin is 24 years old.

He is studying for a Diploma in Telecommunications at the Kenya Coast National Polytechnic and will graduate in December.

Kelvin has been a SAAS student since high school and has worked hard academically since he secured the sponsorship opportunity.

He is the third child in a family of four: three boys and a girl. They live with their parents, and the family depends on the father, who works as a part-time plumber, while the mother is a housewife.

Kelvin and his siblings live with their parents in a two-room house with power but no running water.

Despite the family's financial challenges, Kelvin has remained focused on his dream of becoming a Telecommunication Engineer.

Luckily, his elder siblings have all been educated by SAAS, and this support has been instrumental in their educational journey.

Kelvin's passion to excel in life extends beyond the classroom. He is a talented footballer who enjoys participating in social activities like charity walks and events.
