SPONSOR AN AFRICAN SCHOLAR

Fredrick Onyango

Fredrick is the first born in a family of three, two boys and one girl. He lives with both of his parents, and his father is the breadwinner of the family. He works as a chef in a local primary school.

Fred completed his Secondary schooling in 2009 and managed to score a mean grade of C. He then attended college at the Technical University of Mombasa where he undertook a diploma in Mass Communications thanks to the kindness of SAAS sponsors. Fred is currently working as a full time reporter at Pwani Television which is one of the best local television stations. He is happily now in a position to assist his Dad in providing for the family.

They live in the outskirts of Kongowea/ Maweni in a rented two roomed house that has electricity but no water. Fred's brother has also attended college where he studied for a Diploma in Information Technology again with the assistance of SAAS sponsorship and he is now working with the government as an IT expert.
