Faith is a 19-year-old Form 3 student at Ngala Memorial Girls Secondary School in Kilifi County, along the Kenyan coast. She aspires to become a doctor in the future, driven by a strong desire to change her family's circumstances and serve her community.

She is the second-born in a family of six children, comprising five girls and one boy. Faith lives with her parents in a single-room house without electricity or running water. Her father works as a casual laborer on construction sites, while her mother operates a small vegetable kiosk. The family's income is minimal and often insufficient to meet basic needs.

As a result of these financial hardships, the family has at times gone without adequate food and has occasionally faced eviction threats due to rent arrears. Faith has also experienced frequent interruptions in her education, often being sent home due to unpaid school fees and missing important lessons.

Despite these challenges, Faith remains hopeful, resilient, and determined to succeed academically and help her family overcome poverty. The SAAS scholarship has brought great relief to Faith and her family, assuring consistent school attendance and enabling her to focus fully on her studies.

Her favorite subjects are Chemistry and Biology, which align with her aspiration to pursue a career in medicine. In her free time, Faith enjoys playing table tennis.

Faith is a determined and hardworking student whose perseverance continues to shine despite the challenges she faces.
